

Ava Diamond Bio

Ava Diamond gives people the inspiration and tools they need to take their lives and their businesses to the next level. An expert in employee engagement, she works with everyone from executives to the front line to create aligned, focused organizations where people are passionately committed to results.

Ava has co-authored Mission Possible, with Stephen Covey and Brian Tracy, Speaking of Success, with Ken Blanchard, Stephen Covey and Jack Canfield, and Real World Management Strategies that Work. Ava's latest book, Great Quotes from Feisty Women, combines inspiring quotations from accomplished women with Ava's own insights and down-to earth wisdom.

Over the last 20 years, thousands of people have benefited from her programs on personal excellence, success strategies for women, leading in today's world, building extraordinary teams, thriving through change, and winning with diversity.

Participants in her programs find her energetic, inspiring, informative, and funny! Her audiences leave with great ideas and the know-how to implement them.

A talented speech coach, Ava also helps entrepreneurs attract more clients, make more money, and have a bigger impact through public speaking. She draws on her sixteen years as a professional speaker to help her clients laser-focus their message, identify their perfect audience, craft their signature talk, and deliver it powerfully from the stage.

Ava's proudest accomplishment is completing the Avon Breast Cancer walk—60 miles over 3 days.
